EMERY COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT PERFORMANCE-BASED COMPENSATION PLAN 2008-2009

The 2008 Legislature appropriated funds to be distributed to school district employees as a one-time performance compensation as outlined in a district plan submitted to the Utah State Office of Education. Utah Code 53A-17a-148 requires district plans to outline:

- •Who is eligible for the performance-based compensation
- •The criteria that will be used for awarding the performance-based compensation
- •The instruments or assessments that will be used to measure or evaluate performance
- •The amount of performance-based compensation that will be awarded
- •Whether the performance-based compensation will be based on individual, team, or school-based performance

Who is eligible?

All regular employees, professional and support staff, who are not on formal probation and/or warning status, will be eligible to participate in the Performance-based Compensation Program. Substitutes, student employees, and individuals who do contract work for the district, are not eligible. Employees who are placed on probation or who receive a formal warning in relation to a job-related incident during the school year shall be removed from the eligible list for the Performance-based Compensation Program.

Participation in the Performance-based Compensation Program is optional for all employees. Applications to participate are due to the employee's immediate supervisor by August 29, 2008. The supervisor is to send a copy to the Superintendent.

Criteria Used to Award Performance-based Compensation:

Each employee who applies to participate in the Performance-based Compensation Program will meet with their immediate supervisor prior to September 19, 2008 and establish three (3) personal job-related performance indicators - two required and one additional indicator selected by the employee and approved by their immediate supervisor. Satisfactory performance on the selected indicators, as determined by the employee's immediate supervisor, will be used to determine whether or not the employee will receive the performance-based compensation.

Performance Indicators will be directly related to the job assignment of each applying employee. At least one of the performance indicators for classroom teachers is directly tied to student achievement and is to be in an area of academic need as identified by prior year assessment. Student achievement gains will be measured by the Utah Core Assessment, for those courses included in the CORE assessment program, or, where no CORE assessment is given for a particular subject or course, other assessment measures as determined by the employee and the employee's supervisor.

A required indicator for employees, other than teachers, shall include a satisfaction survey of those directly impacted by the employee's assignment (Examples: staff members, administrators, teachers, students and/or parents - when feasible, etc.). Surveys will be comprised of the existing evaluation instrument/surveys used for administrator, teacher, and support staff evaluation, or a satisfaction survey developed by the employee's immediate supervisor and made up of questions extracted from the employee's existing performance evaluation instrument. A successful survey will be determined by the employee having an average rating score above the satisfactory performance rating for the instrument being used.

Along with student achievement, surveys could also be selected by teachers as one of their performance indicators.

A required indicator for all employees will be satisfactory professional conduct as rated by the employee's immediate supervisor.

Performance Indicators will be selected that require effort and attention to high standards of performance and that reflect in the maintenance or improvement of a quality learning environment for students, regardless of the job assignment.

Measures of successful accomplishment of indicators will be based on 2008-2009 performance only.

Measures to be Used:

As outlined above, student achievement measures will include appropriate assessments, including the Utah Core Curriculum Assessments. Other indicator measures will be determined by the employee and supervisor and must be directly related to the successful accomplishment of the identified indicator and will require satisfactory performance in the area being evaluated.

Amount to be Awarded:

The amount awarded will be determined by the number of employees applying to participate, the number of employees successfully meeting the standards set by the Performance Indicators, the full-time equivalence of employment, and the total amount of funding awarded to the School District for distribution.

It is anticipated that employees who satisfactorily meet the standards set by their Performance Indicators will receive a minimum of $300.00, with a reduced amount to employees who work less than full-time, based on their FTE. That amount could be increased or decreased depending on the total USOE allocation to the School District as determined by the October 1st enrollment count, as well as the total number of employees qualifying to receive the compensation.

Basis for Performance Compensation:

The Performance-based Compensation will be based on individual performance as measure by successful attainment of identified performance indicators during the 2008-2009 school year.

Performance Indicators:

Examples of Performance Indicators: (Selection of indicators must directly relate to employee job assignment)

>Required Indicators - Teachers:

- 1. Student Achievement: (Required for all teachers)
  - •Student increase in achievement levels as measured by an increase in the percent of students scoring at or above level 3 of the Utah Core Curriculum Assessment in the content area identified for performance growth or, where no CORE assessment is available, an increase in the student achievement levels on the measurement instrument identified for the particular content area. Non-classroom teachers will need to establish student achievement goals for the students they serve. Teacher Specialists will need to work with their supervisor to determine how to measure gains related to student success.

2. Professionalism: as rated by the supervisor.

•Punctuality, professional appearance and conduct, communication and rapport, commitment to work assignment, and adherence to school policy. (Documentation will be required to substantiate unprofessional behaviors)

Note: A required indicator can only be substituted or modified based on special need related to the job assignment. The request for substitution or modification must be made by the immediate supervisor and be approved by the Superintendent.

>Required Indicators - Administrators and Support Staff:

1. Positive Survey:

•Positive performance survey of appropriate groups served by an employee which could include one or more of the following: students (secondary only), teachers, parents, peers (school and district), other staff affected by the employees work performance, etc. Survey group(s) will be determined by the employee's immediate supervisor.

2. Professionalism: as rated by the supervisor.

•Punctuality, professional appearance and conduct, communication and rapport, commitment to work assignment, and adherence to school and district policy. (Documentation will be required to substantiate unprofessional behaviors)

Note: A required indicator can only be substituted or modified based on special need related to the job assignment. The request for substitution or modification must be made by the immediate supervisor and be approved by the Superintendent.

>Other Indicator - as selected in consultation with the employee's immediate supervisor. The list below is not exhaustive. Employees and supervisors are not limited to the list below in the selection of the third indicator. These are examples only.

-Student Achievement:

- •School-wide student achievement (Principals)
- •Student achievement gains in an academic area other than the one listed in the required indicators for teachers.

-Positive Survey:

•Positive performance survey of appropriate groups served by an employee which could include one or more of the following: students (secondary only), teachers, parents, peers (school and district), or other staff affected by the employees work performance, etc.

-Staff Development:

- •Participation in two or more appropriate staff development opportunities
- •Presenting or facilitating a staff development experience at the school or district level
- •Significant reading and reporting on professional books and/or research related to the employee's assignment.

-Committees:

·Actively serving on a school or district committee.

-Student Organizations:

•Successfully serving as an advisor to a school or district student organization.

-Extra-curricular Activities (non-paid):

•Willingly accepting additional supervision responsibilities for student extracurricular activities.

-Mentoring:

•Mentoring a new or struggling employee - assigned by supervisor

-Leadership:

•Taking a leadership role in the implementation of specific school and/or district improvement efforts.

-Portfolio:

•Submitting a portfolio outlining the employee's accomplishments, assignments and activities during the 2008-09 school year that demonstrates job-success and/or outstanding professional contributions to the school or district. The portfolio could include examples of some of the above listed indicators. The portfolio should contain at least two letters of recommendation from other employees and/or parents and students.

-Performance checklist:

•Accomplishment of clearly defined performance tasks or expectations directly related to the employee's job assignment and duties. (See example attached)

-Job-related Project:

•Accomplishment of a job-related project that requires significant effort and improves the quality of job performance and the effectiveness of the school or department. This could be a project which, due to lack of time, the employee has not been able to accomplish previously. The project must be approved by the supervisor.

Note: Due to the short time-frame given for the development of this one-time compensation plan, the plan may be adjusted by the Superintendent, as needed, to manage unforeseen issues and complications not anticipated in the plan.

Generally, the supervision assignments for this program are as outlined above. However, the immediate supervisor for employees who work in more than one school or job assignment will be the person who supervises the employee for the most time. However, performance indicators can be written to include both assignments, if desired. Employees who split their time equally between schools or job assignments will need to coordinate with their supervisors to determine which supervisor will take the lead in relation to this program.
